WELCOME

Site History

Discover Paulsdale, a National Historic Landmark listed on the New Jersey and National Registers of Historic Places. This New Jersey treasure is the birthplace and family home of Alice Stokes Paul—a woman who courageously led the final campaign for women’s right to vote and authored the Equal Rights Amendment. Paulsdale, now restored to appear as it did when Alice Paul lived here from 1885 to 1920, offers a variety of interior and exterior spaces suitable for meetings and special events.
